Art Unit: 3723

Claims 152-153 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 152, line 8 there is no proper antecedent basis for "said transmission shaft" rendering the claim vague and indefinite. There is no structural correlation between the lifting mechanism and the power source. Accordingly, it cannot be ascertained what the power source is driving. The claim is indeterminate of scope.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 152 -153 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stewart in view of Klann.

Stewart shows brackets 1 and a cross beam 2 extending to each cross beam. The cross beam includes a lifting mechanism driven by a power source. Pulleys and clamps or hooks are attached to the lifting mechanism.

Klann teaches that a cross beam that supports a lifting mechanism may be adjustable in length.

To make the cross beam of Stewart adjustable in length would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the disclosure of Klann. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this in order to adapt the cross beam to different spaced brackets.

Claims 1-151 are allowed.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
